YORKVILLE CORPS

A DAY OF VICTORY

UNITED CAMPAIGN

Gives Supper to Eighty Returned Men and Their Wives in Appreciation of What They Have Done

On-March 11th, the Yorkville Corps gave a supper to the returned men of the district, which was a great success, some eighty people taking part. A number of the Yorkville Bandmen were present, and went amongst the men and their wives, making them feel right at home as soon as they entered the Hall. While the veteran comrades were enjoying the good spread the Band played. Ensign Laurie and Captain McLean added to the interest of the gathering, playing suitable cornet duets. After giving a few speeches were made by representatives of the Corps, Sergeant-Major Gird represented the Brothers, Mr. Adair, Home League; the Secretary, the Sisters; Bandmaster Loke, the Band. Each comrade especially emphasized our appreciation of the work of the men who had fought for us.

James Atkinson (Corps Officer) stated that this supper was given because we wanted to do something practical to show our gratitude to the men for their services. He also said that anything he, or the comrades of Yorkville, could do, to help the returned men with the problem they might have to face, they were prepared to do it.

Credit is due to the Home League members and several sisters, under the leadership of Mrs. Adair (Home League Secretary), for the splendid supper that was served, and to repeat this sort of thing each month until all the boys have returned. A.B.

SPOKE THE TRUTH

When the Evil Spirit Was Cast Out of Him—Incident Concerning a Convert at Toronto L.

During the week from March 2nd to 8th, over thirty persons have knelt at the Mercy Seat at Toronto.

Several were Young People. One man came to the Mercy Seat under the influence of a friend. He said he was a stranger to the city and had been called by a friend to see a comrade to take him to the Industrial Home, but before he left the singing brought back memories to him. As the song, "Jesus keep me near the Cross," was being sung, he said, "I have been crying out for you, hymn!" The tears flowed down his face, and in a short time he was on his knees crying out for mercy. He arose and testified to the fact that he was saved, and then admitted that he lived in the neighbourhood. Adjutant and Mrs. Campbell were with us on Sunday, March 9th.

MELFORD, SASK.

On Sunday, March 2nd, we had splendid meetings at Melford. Our crowds on Sunday night are grand. On Sunday night Commissions were given to Brother Abney Ungless, Sergeant-Servant, and Brother Gaston Ungless, Treasurer. Just before the close the newly-commissioned brothers had a few words which were followed by a talk from the Lieutenant—T.P.

Sunday Meetings at Edmonton 1. Result in Much Blessing and Seven Seekers

Our ranks at Edmonton 1. have been replenished by several transfers, and these dear comrades were given a warm welcome. One by one our Soldier-comrades who are returning for which we are thankful to God. Bandmen

Sunday, March 9th, was a day of joy and happiness. Captain Tom Mundy spent the day with us, and a real, spiritual uplift was experienced. Adjutant Johnstone conducted the morning open-air, and then turned the meetings over to the Captain, who, by his talk and singing (accompanied by the concertina), proved a blessing to all.

In the afternoon the Captain visited the Young People and taught the Girls' Bible Class (Mrs. Murray, the Grand, being sick), after which he reviewed the lesson, and appeared well pleased with the quick and ready response to the questions. The Captain also conducted the afternoon service for the Senior. Adjutant Johnstone being away at Fort Saskatchewan with Commandant Cummins, Lieutenant Fraser and Mrs. Battick, conducting the prison services there.

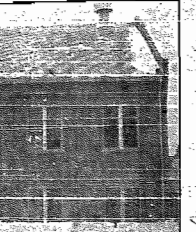

A splendid audience always gathers for the Sunday night meetings and this one was a little better than the average. We rejoiced over seven souls at the Mercy Seat.

TWO SOULS AT MEDICINE HAT

The week-end meetings at Medicine Hat on March 8th-9th, were led by Brother Shaver, a warm friend of the Army, and God's Spirit was felt in each meeting. Many were the testimonies to Holiness. Ensign Dray, the Corps Officer, was laid aside by a heavy cold, and was unable to be with us this week-end.

TEN DAYS WITH GOD

Series of Special Meetings at Peterboro L. Result in Many Notable Conversions—Holiness Addresses Bring Light and Blessing.

We have just finished a series of special meetings which will long be remembered by those who attended them.

Beginning on Sunday, March 2nd, every meeting for ten days has dealt with the obtaining and retaining of Holiness, and seldom has God come so near to our hearts as in these meetings. As is always the case, when we open our hearts and reach after God. He has come in and has brought light and knowledge in a greater abundance than ever before.

On Sunday, March 2nd, the services were conducted by our Officers, Adjutant and Mrs. Burton. In the morning services, Mrs. Burton spoke on "stones," and through her, God very clearly revealed to His people sundry hindrances which were likened to stones, which were blocking their pathway to usefulness and holiness. In the afternoon and again at night the Adjutant spoke on holiness topics, and we ended up with four at the Mercy Seat.

During the week all practices were omitted, and every night a holiness meeting was conducted by the Officers. Scarcely a service passed without the presence of the penitent form, seeking either for forgiveness of sins, or the blessing of a clean heart. Eight or ten notable conversions were made, and the ranks of the devil, and these are standing firm and giving glowing testimonies to the keeping power of God.

As a grand finale we had with us on the following Sunday Ensign and Mrs. Alward. Through his talks he brought God very near to our waiting souls, and Mrs. Alward also blessed and delighted us with her words.

On the Monday night the distribution of prizes to the Juniors took place, and after an interesting program presided over by Mr. Walter Stocker, a friend of the Army, about one hundred and thirty prizes were given out, and also six hundred certificates.—A. M. Y.

NOTED EVANGELIST

—Was a Warm Friend of the Salvation Army

A figure of unique national interest passed from the public life of Canada on March 17th, when the Rev. J. E. Hunter, the co-partner of Rev. H. T. Crossley in over 300 reward. For over twenty years these two modern apostles ministered throughout the cities and towns of Canada, the United States and Bermuda proclaiming the good news in story, sermon and song. Thousands and thousands of prominent in Canadian life converted in their meetings.

For the last nine years Rev. Hunter has been gradually failing from creeping palsy brought on by the intense nervous strain of a quarter century of apostolic labours. In Toronto he lived in the vicinity of the Lippincott Street Co-ops and on several occasions the various Officers who have been stationed there have had blessed prayer meetings in his house. He was always a very warm friend of the Salvation Army and rejoiced to learn of its progress.

Methodist Church Ensign Pace represented the Salvation Army.

The good foundation on which the Corps' finance is laid was also noteworthy, the Soldiers' cartridges be-and work for souls is very gratifying. Two seekers came to the Mercy Seat.

MEETING AT INTERNMEN
CAMP—NEW INDUSTRIAL
HOME AT GENEVA

● In connection with Commissioner Oliphant's visit to the English Internment Camp, an Australian Corporal writes:

The Commissioner was to have been accompanied by the Band from Vevy, but at the last moment the Band was prevented from coming on account of the sickness of several of its members. At a three o'clock tea meeting with a good number of interested men at the Hotel Berlioz several had opportunity to express their appreciation of the services rendered by our Office. In the evening the Commissioner conducted a Salvation meeting, at which three souls sought God and one backslider returned.

The construction of the new industrial home at Geneva is well on its way to completion. This will be a welcome addition to our work in that town. The ground is the gift of Messieurs Bertrand, and the house has been built as the result of a legacy from Mademoiselle Juliette Bertrand. Monsieur the Captain and Madame Alfred Bertrand have An incident of the evacuation. The old Milkman on his morning rounds passes on the good news that the German troops had left the city during the night.

The Colonel also made a call at the neighbouring town of Croix-uttee, and some grain which they were able to collect from the fields, they not only provided for their own needs, but the needs of many poor people and children round about.

The kind of courage displayed is exemplified in an incident in which one night Commandant Blaie interposed her own body between a soldier's bayonet and a helpless woman, thus saving her life.

The fine spirit of self-sacrifice which has actuated all that these devoted Comrades have done reveals itself in an incident connected with Colonel Peyron's visit. To meet their temporary needs the Territorial Commander took with him to Croix a large parcel of food. "I only wish," he writes, "I could describe the joy they expressed at the sight of ham, chocolate, and white bread from Paris." Indeed, it was such a treat that they felt they could not eat it themselves, so they shared it out among the soldiers!

During the occupation, the Colored people were subjected to the same system of rationing, the purchase of food and clothing being at curiously prohibitive prices.

At the beginning of the war, Comrade J. B. Wells, who had been in the South for a long time, thought the general impression was that if he went to the South he would be warned his Comrades, and was helpful in seeing that they made proper use of the money they received. Himself, the Officers cultivated a

COMMISSIONER MRS. BOOTH-
HELLBERG LEADS TWO DAYS WITH GOD AT ODENSE

- Following on the victorious Two Days with God Campaign at Aalborg, Commissioner Mrs. Booth-Hellberg conducted a similar series of gatherings at Odense.

At this important centre, which is perhaps the second largest town in the whole of Denmark, immense crowds of people were brought under the spell of The Army's message, both in the main gatherings and in the overflow meetings which had to be arranged.

The most sacred influences were felt in every Session, and the Commissioner, upon whom the burden of the campaign principally fell, was graciously helped by the Holy Spirit.

There were sixty-six seekers at the Mercy Seat. Before the meetings concluded a message of loyal assurance was dispatched to the General.

Commissioner Eadie has opened a Salvation Army Hall at New Kleinfontein Mine, Benoni, in the Kalfrarian district, South Africa. Many Salvationist visitors included the Johannesburg 11. Band, whose music drew large crowds. For the first meeting the Hall was packed with people, who also stood in crowds around the windows and door. Those present contributed £185 towards the expense, and there were fifteen seekers.

 stoner Higgins, were loudly applauded. His plea for a sanctified holiday was followed with a heart and willing minds, and the meeting closed with almost the entire audience, considering themselves called to unequal service for God and the Kingdom in this God-ruled Army.

Forces of the Salvation Army in the United States, under the leadership and with the example of the Commander and Commissioner, were so deeply determined to hold to old ways. Never before were there so many open doors before us when we were before the people so eager to hear our message. All are enthusiastic to press the battle under the old flag and win the world with the Cross—His Christ—Walter Mabey, Major.

MEN'S SOCIAL WORK

In Progressing Well in Eastern Canada—Lieutenant-Colonel Hargrave Brings Back Good Report.

After a three weeks tour of inspection in the Metropolitan Social Institutions in Eastern Canada, Lieutenant-Colonel Hargrave has returned to Toronto and reports that a splendid work is being done at the various centres visited.

At Montreal Adjutant Cornish has made many improvements in the Metropolitan and very new for more room, especially in view of the commencement of Frison and Police work. Negotiations are in progress for the acquiring of a large building capable of accommodating at least 75 men.

The Metropolitan was pleased to note that meetings are regularly held at the Metropolitan—twice on Sundays and twice on Tuesdays.

Referring to the recent robbery that took place, the Colonel said that the horse and sleigh had been stolen, and that the thieves had taken waste paper and other material which the thieves had managed to dispose of.

At Quebec Adjutant Deereot is doing a good work, the Metropolitan being full up all the time.

Looked Forward To

Passing on to Halifax the Colonel formed one of the party which went to welcome the returning boys on the Adriatic, and had the pleasure of meeting the Chief of the Staff.

On Sunday afternoon the Colonel conducted a meeting in the County Jail and at night conducted a memorial meeting for the late Mrs. Brigadier Barr at the No. 11, Corps.

It was a touching and impressive service and four persons sought Salvation. Ensign Ritchie, the manager of the Metropolitan, is making the most of his opportunities to help those in need. Recently a returned man came to him saying that he had been robbed of a considerable sum of money and was hard up against it until he could get in touch with friends. The Ensign assisted him, and said he could stay at the Metropolitan until he was in funds again.

While the Colonel was there this man came in and settled up with the Ensign for three weeks board and lodging, expressing his gratitude for the timely help given and for the confidence placed in him.

Another person whom the Ensign assisted recently was a French Canadian boy who was found wandering about the streets. He was sent to his brother, Mrs. Ritchie, who visited a house and found a poor girl with a baby for which she had no clothing. Some garments were procured and the girl was sent to the Rescue Home.

Re-opening of Nanaimo Hall

Interesting Services Conducted by Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton—Greetings from Ministers of Town—Great Improvements Have Been Made to Building

COMMISSIONER and Mrs. Sowton, accompanied by Brigadier McLean and Major Sims recently visited Nanaimo, B.C. The party arrived from Vancouver on the S. S. Princess Beatrice and were met at the wharf by Captain Hamblek, the Commanding Officer, and the Band, which played suitable music as our Leaders disembarked.

At Halifax.

The occasion was one which the local Commanders have looked forward to for many a long day for the Commissioner had come to conduct the dedication service of the remodelled hall. For the past five weeks the building has been in the hands of the contractors, who under the direction of Captain Leksan, have brought about marked changes in the Citadel, particularly the interior.

Although rain was falling, it by no means dampened the ardour of the party as they marched to the Hall headed by the Band, for their reception had been most cordial. Supper had been kindly provided in the Young People's Hall.

Brigadier McLean opened the service, and introduced the chairman, the Rev. Mr. Cousins (Baptist), who referred to the salvation of a number of refugees to his association with the Salvation Army in the early days.

The Methodist Church was represented by the Rev. Mr. Vance who brought the greetings and best wishes of his congregation. "With the Army every success in their new home," he said.

"Hail to him the Lord helped us," was the portion of Scripture upon which the Commissioner's address was founded. The various countries made up, and lessons drawn from this Scripture were most helpful.

The dedication of the Citadel then took place. "May this building be the birthplace of many souls," concluded the Commissioner in his dedicatory prayer.

The Nanaimo Hall was built many years ago and was capable of seating many hundreds of people. The interior has now been converted ed into two halls, Senior and Young People's, with side rooms for Band and Life-Saving Corps.

An excellent quarters with every modern improvement has been erected, which, although in the main building, is entirely separate.

The decorations and lighting of the Senior Hall are very effective and restful to the eye. In fact the remodelling and general renovating of this Citadel reflects great credit upon Captain Leksan, the Army's builder, and Toronto Headquarters.

Mrs. Commissioner Sowton gave a brief address during the service and her words were listened to with great attention and interest. Major Sims and Adjutant Carter also spoke and a vocal effort rendered by the Commanding Officers was well received.

"I am pleased to have anything to do with the remodeling of this building," said Captain Leksan. "I am happy in the position as builder to see not only the start, but also the finish of my work, and this is not every Officer's privilege."

In bringing the service to a close the Commissioner made an appeal to all present to dedicate themselves to the service of God.

International Prisoners.

On the following evening a good crowd gathered to hear the Commissioner lecture on the "Salvation Army's" world-wide work. Brigadier McLean had charge of the preliminaries.

An interesting feature of this meeting was the dedication by Mrs. Sowton of the infant daughter of Captain and Mrs. Hancock.

The Commissioner's lecture was delivered in a masterly manner and not only interested his hearers, but convinced them that he was right in our work and had a first-hand knowledge of his subject.

Brigadier McLean thanked the Commissioner on behalf of the audience for his highly interesting address on the Army World-wide Social Operations and Mrs. Commissioner Sowton pronounced the benediction.—H. G. C.

WELCOMED TO CALGARY OFFICERS AND COMRADES WHO ATTENDED THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DAY

A passing reference was made in last week's "Cry" to the meeting conducted on the Saturday evening at Calgary by Brigadier Hay, at which the Comrades who were attending the Young People's Day were welcomed. The following additional particulars have now reached us. In this meeting the Brigadier was assisted by Staff-Captain George Smith. The weekend hall was filled.

A good old Army song followed by prayer for the blessing of God on the meetings gave us (writes our correspondent) a good start. The Brigadier called on the Young People's Sergeant-Major Chamberlain, of Calgary I. Lieutenant Murray, the newly appointed Young People's Sergeant-Major of Calgary II, and Young People's Sergeant Major Mowbray, of Calgary III, to extend a hearty welcome to the delegates.

NEWS FROM ACROSS THE BORDER LINE

THE COMMANDER OPENS A HUT AT NEWPORT NEWS AND INSPECTS WAR SERVICE INSTITUTIONS IN NEW YORK—YOUNG PEOPLE'S DAY AT BOSTON

Commander Evangeline Booth recently opened the Newport News Hut, which is one of the best of its kind in the United States and will no doubt do immense and wonderful work for the soldiers and sailors.

The Commander recently made an official inspection of three War Service institutions in New York City—the Doughty, Hunt, on Madison Square, and the two apton hotels. She expressed herself as delighted with all the appointments of the buildings and commended the Officers in charge on the efficiency with which affairs were being run.

Headquarters for War Work

The old Training College on 14th Street, New York City, which a year ago was badly damaged by fire, has been partly rehabilitated and is now being used as the headquarters for the War Activities. The second floor has been reconstructed and fitted out as a rest and recreation room for soldiers and sailors. The appointments are in every respect very fine. A cafeteria is being run in connection with the restaurant for soldiers and sailors.

Lieutenant-Colonel Jenkins, the Editor-in-Chief, who has been unable to attend to the affairs of his office for nearly two months on account of a very annoying skin affection, has gone to the South to hasten his convalescence and recuperation.

Arrangements now are well advanced for the developing of a great relief campaign which will get in May. The Provincial and Divisional Officers are perfecting their budgets in order to set an accurate national target. The campaign will extend into every city and town and every city in the entire country.

The religious work among soldiers at Camp Devens is progressing very favorably. A number of the boys have been converted, and many of the converts have been enrolled as soldiers of the Salvation Army, while two of these have made known their wish to become officers in the Salvation Army.

Good Spiritual Results

The Young People's Day at Boston is described by some who know, as the greatest of the kind ever held there. The meetings were held in the Social Centre and the huge hall was crowded three times. The enthusiasm and life-and-vigor were splendid to behold. The visitors were in great numbers.

As soon as possible the Captain got in touch with the Army's Industrial Department and a store was sent to the women's house with such other needed articles or furniture.

Thus by the Army's money and medical help the women and their little ones were aided over their period of destitution until they were managed to secure work once more.

"And this is only one typical instance out of many that I could relate," said the Captain. "It is an instance in relief work of this description many hours a week. Coming up against the problems of the poor are clearly a most serious and arduous task."

"I do hope that something will be done along these lines very soon."

As living, caring and working for the poor of a great city the Captain is

REALIZING HER LIFE'S AMBITION

"Oh Captain, can you help me?" she said. "There is no food in the

An Early Resolve

"When I grow up I will be an Army Officer and spend my life in helping others," was the resolve that she made. As the years went by her resolve deepened into dedication, conviction that the Lord was calling her to this service.

But when she became old enough for Candidature a great disappointment awaited her. On account of her health she was not accepted. She took this blow, however, in the true spirit of a Salvationist.

ALWAYS CHEERFUL

The Impressions of a Returned Soldier Regarding the Work of the Army Among the Military.

One of the feelings it is hard for a soldier to describe is that when he first crossed from England to France on the "Great Adventure," but that often used to read in the Army uniform looked a man up when he was found in the trenches. It was on November 13, 1917, that the writer arrived in Boulogne, and that night, after the draft had just started down in tents at the Rest Camp, he made his way to the Salvation Army Hut. It was not elaborately furnished but the cheerful smile from the somewhat dirty-looking Salvation Army woman behind the counter tended to dispel the feeling of strangeness and sense of loneliness that possessed him. We journeyed to Etaples in motor lorries the next morning, and when all the luggage had been unpacked and getting temporarily settled down prior to going up the line had subsided, a visit was made to the Army Hut. As it was a pitch dark night, and it was difficult to find one's way about. However, once on the right track, the first thing that struck the eye of this stranger was welcomed by an Officer who said his name was Carroll and that he was an American.

Carroll, a Salvation Army in more peaceful times. The Hut had not long been in existence at that time, and of things which were cruel and hard was nothing crude in the welcome.

Kindness and Help

After the hustle and excitement of the week the shelter of the Army Hut at night. The writer will not soon forget the short, but in box cars. Some came back but others didn't. But the kindness of Captain Carroll did not stop at that. The Ypres and Arras the writer experienced it. The Captain is too modest a man to acknowledge his own many thousands of Canadians whom he ministered will not come again.

Another very modest Officer who did good work was Adjutant Barry. I met him at Seaford. He said that he had a faint idea of the good work done by the Army at this Seaford station, down among the soldiers who were sent to the Hut there it was packed, one with not soon forget the picture of the busy Adjutant who was waiting on the needs of the soldiers of the various units stationed at Seaford. Tired and weary came away with the Adjutant and his helpers. Such, however, is the spirit of the Army that I think I am expressing the opinion of many who think much but say little.—B.S.

Getting the Children

At Hamilton 11, where the Captain was stationed for eighteen months, her efforts were also largely directed towards improving the Young People's work. In order to increase the attendance at Company meetings, she and her Lieutenants went from house to house and ascertain if the children went anywhere on Sundays. If not she persuaded the parents to send them to the Army.

They would also stop children on the street and get them to promise to come along to the Army meetings.

"I greatly value my opportunities as an Army Officer," said the Captain, "and in return am very happy and satisfied in my work."

[NOTE—As it is not possible for a number of the interesting incidents that interview these Officers stationed in Seaford etc. or to write a more complete account of the work of the Young People's work, the writer has been able to do so.]

FIRST TO USE DRUM

A Striking Incident in the Career of the Late Colonel Charles Rothwell.

From Our Special Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 15.

This week we have laid to rest in Albany Park, where the Army's first General, Sir John Bull, died, Mrs. Catherine Booth, Commissioner Raitton, and other Saints and Soldiers lie awaiting the resurrection. Mrs. Booth, who was known in many parts of the world and deserves to be remembered wherever the Army drum is heard, because he was the first Officer to utilize that instrument as a means of "catching men."

Colonel Charles Rothwell passed away suddenly after serving 40 years under the Flag. I had the privilege of a conversation with him in the morning at Headquarters where he was on a visit, the same evening the Angel of Death carried him home to glory.

He and his wife joined the Christian Mission established by the late General as a preface to the Salvation Army. They passed through fiery opposition to those early days. The Colonel, as he afterwards came, was one of the earliest to don Salvation Army uniform. The circumstances under which he first utilized the big drum and tambourine in the outdoor work of the Army, he once related to me as follows:

"I was the original of that Salvation Army thing, which showed a tendency to slow down, and he stirred my brain for some means of raking up fresh interest. He proposed to the Local Officers that they should use a big drum in the processions. Some shrank from the idea of doing anything so outrageous, and held out against it."

"Very well," replied the dauntless Captain, "if you won't join me, then I'll do it without you."

So procuring a drum he set out at the head of the march. The reluctance was shown in the procession. The Captain's daring had the desired effect upon the Corps, and upon the public, the things were genuinely stirred up.

During his subsequent career Colonel Rothwell held many posts in various parts of the world, and displayed fine qualities of loyalty, administration, and originality in the use of the Gospel, to which he devoted his life with wholehearted zeal. He went out to China in charge of the pioneer party, and was later in India, and Mrs. Chard, son-in-law and daughter of your Commissioner Richards.

In the spring of 1912, Colonel Rothwell's Christian life, as a part of Salvation Army Emigrants. On the train on the Canadian side, an emigrant (not one of the Army party) attempted suicide by cutting his throat. The train attendants in their dilemma ran to the Salvation Army Colonel, who showed his calm resource by holding the man's throat and stationing himself for five hours by his side, feeding him with a spoon. His prompt action saved the fellow's life.—E. W.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT PORTUNE (HFLD.)

A memorial service was conducted in the Army Citadel at Portune for Brothers William Keppin, Samuel Cox, George Keppin, Mrs. Keppin, and George Morgan. The L. O. A. Society and Good Templars were present. Mrs. Adjutant Stickland played appropriate songs on the occasion and the Songsters did their part well. The Adjutant spoke to a large gathering, and urged all to prepare for eternity.

PROMOTED TO GLORY

Sister Mrs. Riach, Vernon, B.C.

The Salvation Army has lost an old and faithful warrior, in the call to the Better Land of Sister Mrs. Riach, on January 23th.

Our departed Comrade had been a loyal Salvationist for nearly thirty years, and he was in the night meeting when he sang "Open wide the loving arms, Lord, I'm coming home."

The remains of our late comrade were laid to rest in the cemetery of the Salvation Army, where his wife and brother were buried. Private Stride, with the bearers, had only returned home from the war on the previous Sunday. Death was sudden and unexpected. At the early age of nineteen she had heard the summons, leaving behind among the sorrowing ones a baby girl of but a few hours' old. They have our heartfelt sympathy and prayers.—P.

Brother Martin, Portage La Prairie.

Our comrade was promoted to glory after a very short illness. Brother Martin has been a very faithful soldier for the past fourteen years. The funeral and memorial services were conducted by Adjutant and Mr. Bourne, and on each occasion the Hall was filled, which showed the respect and esteem in which our late Comrade was held. His loss is felt very keenly, for he is missed by all, and the whole Corps extends its deepest sympathy to Sister Martin and her darling child.

Brother Moon and Bandman Gainey, Woodstock, Ont.

Our Corps has recently been doubly bereft, two valued Comrades being taken from its midst. The first to answer the call was Brother Thomas Moon, who, although 83 years old, was up to a week previous to his death, apparently hale and hearty. He was always a regular and interested attendant, a good friend in many ways to the Army and a lover of its doctrines and work.

The funeral service was conducted by Adjutant E. Stickels assisted by Capt. W. Weston, Rev. Shaw and the Rev. Haidt, B.A. A memorial service was held on the following Sunday, February 16th.

Brother Moon, following an attack of influenza, resulted in the death of his wife, who was also a member of the Corps.

Three days later we buried Mr. Haidt, an Army friend.

On Sunday, February 9th, a double memorial was held. Sister Mrs. Wright spoke regarding Brother Haidt's Christian life. Letters were read from Brigadier Hay, Adjutant Haidt, Winnipeg; Adjutant Johnson, Edmonton; L. Captain Acton, Edmonton; and also from Mrs. Riach's brother, who is an old Church of England Minister. All spoke most highly of the late Sister's kindness, helpfulness and devotion. A little (grandson of deceased) gave his young heart to the Army on the memorial meeting.—A. F. N.

Sister Mrs. Jennings, Exton, Ex.

The sad duty of laying to rest the body of Mrs. Steward Jennings was performed by Adjutant Barry on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 23rd.

The building was crowded by friends, who also followed to the graveside to pay their last respects to the departed one: who was a favourite with all who knew her. An impressive service was conducted in the Citadel, Captain Pretty spoke "Pearly White City," and also Stride, the father of Mrs. Jennings, returned home to Jesus in the night meeting when he sang "Open wide the loving arms, Lord, I'm coming home."

Our Comrade, the Bandman, was a brother and a Corps man. A Soldier, one whose quiet testimony was definite and one who was able to use his voice in singing for the glory of God.

Adjutant Ritchie, of London, conducted the funeral service, assisted by Adjutant Stickels and Captain Webster. Several Comrades, including the Bandmaster, paid tribute to Brother Gainey's life and his untimely death. His last testimony was that he had "come home" and "was at peace."—Corps Correspondent.

Sister Ray, Toronto I.

On Monday, March 2nd, Sister Ray was promoted to glory. She had been a Soldier of Toronto I Corps for over thirty years, and four days before her departure to Heaven she went from bed to bed in the hospital ward in which she was, talking to the patients about her soul, she also helped many at the hospital by her singing.

A good number of the comrades, including some of the Bandmen, met at the undertaker's parlour, where the service was conducted by Captain, Coriols. We went to the cemetery, and there committed our comrade's remains to the earth. At the memorial service nine souls knelt at the Penitent Form.

Brother J. Figgard, Creston, Nfld.

Our Comrade passed away on January 24th, at the age of 87. He was converted in 1914 and enrolled as a Soldier when the Army opened this Corps. He was a faithful Soldier and did all that lay in his power to help on the cause of God and the Army. He was ever ready to give a testimony to the saving and keeping power of God.

Sister Mrs. Hutchings, Whitehouse.

Our Comrade was taken away very suddenly. Brother Hutchings, her husband, had been away from home for some time, and he was about a fortnight before Christmas. He decided to stay home with his little family all winter which he had not been privileged to do for some time.

On December 27th, after a few hours illness, Sister Hutchings passed quietly and peacefully into the Great Beyond. The loss has been felt keenly by husband, relatives and friends. But it is consoling to know that she was at last ready to meet Jesus. Our sympathies and prayers are with the bereaved.

Sister Ethel Barrett, Bell Isle, Nfld.

Death has visited us and taken from our midst, Sister Ethel Barrett, 34, and was a blessed one. The wife of a very happy and contented man, she was waiting for her friend to come. The last time he was in one of our meetings and was a member of the Home League. Just before her eyes closed in death she called her father to her side and asked him to meet her in Heaven. Then she closed her eyes with her own hand, and said: "Good bye, my dear old father. Good bye world."

Adjutant Sainsbury conducted a short service in the house before the body was taken to the cemetery to be buried. Her former home was in the United States.

At the memorial service in the Salvation Army Citadel quite a number of our Soldiers spoke of her life and her glorious end. Our sympathy goes out to her bereaved ones, who are suffering her loss. She has lost her wife and her children.—S. J. Sainsbury.

TAKING UP FARMS

QUITE a number of returned men with farming experience and abundant cultivation are taking advantage of the Government's offer to start them farming; according to Mr. Black, the chairman of the Soldier's Settlement Board, the number of men who have been placed in three weeks. Altogether there had been 1,200 men.

CONSIDER THE CHILDREN

THE problem of the widow and her dependent children is one that is now coming to public attention. In an address on this subject the Rev. Bryce said: "One of the main functions of Government should be the normal development of childhood. The basis of any legislation to meet this need should be a conviction of the home need for every child, and so should be assisted with loans averaging $1,400, the total of loans to settlers being 1,600,000. A large percentage of the men have from $500 to $2,000 capital. They are mostly farmers' sons or men who have worked on farms before enlisting, or men who had drifted into the cities, but now desire to return to the land.

IN MEMORY OF FALLEN

THE widows and mother's of the soldiers who fell in the war are to be awarded a "Silver Cross of Sacrifice" by the Canadian Government, according to a statement by the Minister of Militia. It is hoped that before long arrangements will be completed for the manufacture and distribution of the emblems, in addition the next of kin of soldiers who have lost their lives will receive a memorial plaque of bronze being issued by the British Government.

BIG TUNNEL SCHEMES

PLANS for boring tunnels under important cities are now being discussed and it is likely that work on a tunnel under the English Channel may soon be commenced. This will ensure a six-hour train service between London and Paris.

Other schemes said to be contemplated include tunnels under the Straits of Gibraltar, the Bosphorus and Behring Strait. The carrying out of the last-named scheme would link England with Canada, the United States and South America, by rail.

REWARDS FOR BRAVERY

THE British Government has decorated sixty-six American army medical officers and men for bravery and distinguished service in the war.

ning guidance the various Provincial Returned Soldier Committees' carry on their work (says "Black to White" the new monthly publication of the Repatriation Committee.)

Care of Invalided Men

This department has a number of branches which the past two or three years have been caring for invalided men with marked success. Just as the army is responsible for its soldiers up to the day of discharge, so from that day on the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is charged with the public responsibility for their welfare.

In the case of invalids the Army Medical Corps carries medical treatment to the point where either medical science can no further improve their condition, or it is obvious that prolonged or permanent medical occupation will be necessary. At such point the man is discharged from the army and if he still requires further medical treatment he is taken into hospital controlled by the Re-establishment Department. Chief among the cases which this department handles are tuberculosis and mental patients, for the former of which a chain of sanatoria is conducted all across the country.

Because in each individual case the ability to return to his pre-war trade or occupation is the all-important consideration every discharged soldier is surveyed with a view to ascertaining whether or not his other kind of work at which he can support himself in spite of his handicap. The Vocational Branch conducts this work.

To assist all of these and the fit man returning after the war, the Department also has a newly formed branch with officers overseas, on the transports, at the dispersal stations, and especially in the public employment office, to supply information to the men and to assist them as far as possible to obtain opportunity for employment.

In order to assist the Government and other agencies to develop opportunities for employment in the localities where it would be needed the overseas representatives of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment took a questionnaire of all the soldiers overseas as soon as hostilities ceased. Each man was asked to state the locality in which he wished to reside in Canada, and the trade or profession in which he was skilled. These cards were returned to Canada to be analyzed and tabulated according to a pre-arranged plan.

Free Medical Service

Both the medical services and the artificial limb factory continue to deal with the men long after they are re-established. Both branches have staffs in the field to be within easy reach of returned soldiers in all parts of the country. The service given is absolutely free of cost to the veterans as long as they live.

NEW COPYRIGHT BILL

A NEW Copyright Bill is to be introduced into Parliament this session as it is considered that authors and composers in Canada are not sufficiently protected. For instance, the writer of a Canadian book has no control over the translation into a foreign language.

Under the British Act, the term of copyright is the life of the author plus 30 years. In Canada, it is only 28 plus 14 years.

CAN USE VACANT LOTS

THE Vacant Land Cultivation Act will continue in operation in Ontario to the end of the present year. This provides that councils of municipalities might enter upon and use for the purposes of cultivation vacant property within the municipalities that was not in use, without compensating the owner.

In view of the fact that a number of these lots have been plowed and work done, it was thought advisable by the Federal Government to extend the operation of the Act.

HUNTING FOR SEALS

THE sealing fleet which sailed from St. John's, Nfld., this month, consisted of ten ships only. This is the smallest sealing fleet in the history of the industry in the Dominion. News of the small fleet, the tenth, the Viking, will seek to obtain a load off the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

SONGS OF SALVATION

PERFECT CLEANSING

Tune—For Ever With the Lord,

68; Song Book 430.

From every stain made clean,

From every sin set free;

O blessed Lord, this is the gift

That Thou hast promised me.

And pressing through the past

Of failure, fault, and fear,

Before Thy cross my soul I cast,

And dare to leave it there.

From Thee I would not hide

My sin, because of fear

What men may think; I hate my pride,

And as I am appear—

Just as I am, O Lord,

Not what I'm thought to be;

Just as I am, a struggling soul

For life and liberty.

GIVE HEED

Tunes—The Ash Grove, 200; Oh,

Turn Ye, 199; Song Book, 118.

Hark, sinner! while God

From his high doth entreat thee,

And warnings with accents

Of mercy doth send.

Give ear to His voice,

Lest in judgment He meet thee;

The harvest is passing,

The summer will end.

How oft of thy danger

And guilt He hath told thee!

How oft still the message

Of mercy doth send.

Haste, haste, while He waits

In His arms to enfolding thee;

The harvest is passing,

The summer will end.
